Vinyard Urges Corn Growers To Vote Dec. 11

All eligible corn farmers should vote in the Dec. 11 producer referendum if they are interested in the future of their farming operations, Ersel Vinyard, Saline County Farm Bureau president, stated today. All land-owners and tenants in the commercial area who grew corn in 1956 or placed corn land in the soil bank are eligible to vote. This includes wives who are co-owners, or co-signers of tenant contracts, as well as those under legal age who share in the income from corn production. The referendum was set by the 1956 farm law. Producers will choose between a soil bank corn base of 51 million acres for the commercial area, and the old acreage allotment plan which provides 37.3 million acres in the area. Two-thirds of those voting in commercial areas in 24 states must approve the soil bank base choice, or the acreage allotment alternative will take effect. All farmers will be affected by the results of the vote. The alternatives have a direct bearing on the amount of corn farmers can plant if they participate in a government program, the amount of the substitute crops which will be harvested, and the total supply of competing feed grains to be grown. Livestock farmers who feed their corn and other crops are just as affected as grain farmers in the results of the referendum.

Light snow and freezing rain turned highways into treacherous ribbons of ice today in parts of the upper Mississippi Valley and the Great Lakes area. The storm preceded the much delayed southward advance of an Arctic air mass covering the northern one-third of the nation. Cold wave warnings were issued for Wyoming, Colorado, southern Kansas, southern Missouri, southern Minnesota, southeastern South Dakota and northern Iowa. Readings in the cold air belt early today ranged from 5-15 degrees below zero in Montana to 15-20 above zero over northern Minnesota, South Dakota and northwest Nebraska. Near freezing temperatures were reported in western Iowa and northern Kansas. Weathermen said a new storm center is building up in the plains and is expected to push into southwestern Kansas by tonight. Freezing rain associated with the storm is predicted for northern Kansas and northern Missouri, northward into Nebraska and Iowa. The collision of the cold northern air and the mild weather across the southern two-thirds of the country touched off heavy thunderstorms in parts of Missouri and southeastern Iowa. A tornado was reported near Centralia, Mo., but there were no reports of damage.

County GOP To Underwrite Vote Contests

Endorse Circuit Judges, Supreme Court Candidate

The Saline County Republican committee, meeting in convention last night, voted to underwrite a contest of the Nov. 6 election in which canvassed results showed the Republican nominees for circuit clerk and coroner were defeated. The convention also endorsed a supreme court candidate and the three present circuit judges.

The official canvass showed that James R. Burroughs, Democrat, defeated Republican incumbent, Quentin Bowers, by 60 votes and that James Thornton, Democrat, beat the Republican incumbent, Elmer M. Gibbons, for coroner by 318 votes. There was no information on when or on what basis the canvasses would be inaugurated.

The convention was called to name delegates to the Republican convention to nominate a candidate for the special judicial election Feb. 25 which will name a supreme court judge to fill a vacancy created by the death of Supreme Court Justice Ralph Maxwell, Nashville, Ill., who died Aug. 29.

Endorsed was Judge Byron O. House of Nashville, a circuit judge in the judicial circuit that includes the heavily populated St. Clair county area. The convention to nominate the candidate will be held Dec. 15 starting at 10 a. m. in the Jefferson county court house at Mt. Vernon. Atty. Charles H. Thompson of Harrisburg, a former supreme court justice, made a speech endorsing House for the post.

The present circuit judges of this circuit endorsed for re-election were C. Ross Reynolds of Vienna, Harold L. Zimmerman of Marion and Clarence E. Wright of Carbondale.

The regular judicial election will be held in June and the convention to name the circuit judge candidates will be held in the spring at a location yet to be announced.

Stevenson Will Not Run Again; Expects to Be 'Elder Statesman'

WASHINGTON (U) — Adlai E. Stevenson will not run again for the presidency but expects to become an influential "elder statesman" in the Democratic Party. Stevenson, who suffered two overwhelming defeats at the hands of President Eisenhower, removed himself from the future presidential picture in a one-page statement issued Tuesday night.

"I will not run again for the presidency," Stevenson declared in a statement released through the Democratic National Committee.

But he said he would continue to help the Democratic Party "wherever I can" and called on party leaders to exercise "strong, searching and constructive opposition" to Mr. Eisenhower.

Stevenson said he was accepting membership on a new advisory committee being named to help plan the Democratic Party's future strategy. It is there that he will continue to exercise influence on party affairs.

He said he would return to his Chicago law practice Jan. 1.

Young Hungarian Pleads in Vain for Wife, Children to Join Him in U. S.

SCHUETZEN, Austria (U) — A young Hungarian farmer stood today in the no-man's-land of the Austro-Hungarian frontier and pleaded in vain for his wife and children to join him in seeking a new life in America.

The farmer was Ignace Habetler, 30. He enacted the one-hour domestic drama with his wife, Maria, within earshot of Hungarian border guards standing by with their guns at the ready, and in view of passing Soviet soldiers. Habetler begged his wife to accompany him to New York.

In the end Maria turned back to Hungary with tears in her eyes. She said she feared even shattered Hungary would be a better place to live than New York if war comes.

Wears War in New York

"If war breaks out it will be worse in America than here," she said. The most she would promise was that eventually she might join Ignace when it seemed "feasible."

Habetler fled across the border one dark night two weeks ago, leaving his wife and two children behind in the one-room shack they called home. He returned to the Austrian border post Tuesday afternoon and asked for help in getting word to Maria to join him.

He had received a letter from his sister, Mrs. Anna Gruber of New York, containing money and the promise of financial aid to bring the Habetler family to New York.

Bribes Red Soldiers

Habetler pleaded with her to bring the children to the border so they could leave for the United States. She refused. During their argument two Hungarian soldiers dressed in khaki topcoats walked up.

Habetler tossed an Austrian cigarette lighter across the ditch. The lighter is worth more in Hungary than a week's pay for a private soldier.

The Red soldiers were not satisfied, however, and Habetler handed over two more lighters and a harmonica on a promise they would help Maria escape.

At last Habetler shouted to his wife, "If you don't come I'll go to America anyway. I don't want to go back to Hungary."

She wept as she turned away.

Williams, Jordan Favor More Information

Interested Persons Express Opinion for Or Against Proposal

The Harrisburg city council came up with a two to two tie vote on the provision of offering Poplar street—with restrictions on parking—for modern highway through the city to be built with federal and state funds.

Mayor Claud Gibbons, who made the motion, and Commissioner Morris Darnell, who seconded it, voted favorably and Commissioners Don Williams and Sneed Jordan voted against. Both Williams and Jordan qualified their vote by stating that they were not necessarily against the Route 13 running through Poplar street but thought that the issue should be given more information first by a qualified person or persons.

Commissioner Charles Hine, fifth member of the council, was not present because of a death. The mother of his only service station employee, John McDermott, died and Hine was keeping open his business.

Opinions Expressed

Fourteen persons, at the invitation of Mayor Gibbons, expressed their opinion on the proposition, which would eliminate most of the parking on Poplar street. A by-pass, its course never identified and probably not even decided upon yet, would be the alternative. About 40 interested persons were on hand for the council meeting.

First to give his views, and speaking briefly, was Lloyd L. Parker, who said he didn't want to see the road by-pass Harrisburg, that he wanted it to come right through Harrisburg.

Ronnie Doerge suggested that a committee of three "pros" and three "cons" be appointed to study the problem and make a report, that a lot of services would be available to the committee.

Charles Skaggs suggested that names of towns where similar programs had been put ineffect, with parking being eliminated, be learned, and that the effect on these towns be studied.

Favor, Oppose Delay

Bernie Moore, who pushed for council consideration at yesterday's meeting, was "we must consider the town's welfare as a whole instead of individual viewpoints. . . If we're going to advance as a town we'd better get on the ball and get the route through Harrisburg."

Claude Winkelman presented a lengthy discussion in which he urged a delay on a decision until more could be learned both about

Public Responds To Christmas Plea By Dying Boy, 6

MENOMONEE FALLS, Wis. (U) — A dying 6-year-old boy's fondest Christmas dream came true today, four times over.

Little Dale Nadwocki, suffering from incurable cancer, wanted a live baby pig for Christmas — his last. Well wishers responded by sending him four baby porkers, one of which boasts a pedigree.

The thin but cheerful youngster is celebrating Christmas tonight because he may not live until Dec. 25.

Leila Nadwocki, the boy's mother, said the public response of kindness for Dale has been "overwhelming." She said Dale had received about 250 cards some with money and others with prayers and good wishes.

Auditors Up Hodge Thefts by Million

Report Does Not Say All Went To Ex-Official

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (U) — Former State Auditor Orville E. Hodge may have robbed the state treasury of as much as 2½ million dollars, or a million more than at first believed, auditors' figures showed today.

An independent audit of the imprisoned Hodge's fantastic financial maneuvers revealed that questionable or improper state checks and travel vouchers totaled some 2½ million dollars.

However, the report by the firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co. of Chicago, released late Tuesday, did not flatly state that Hodge embezzled all of the missing money.

Hodge, a fast-rising figure in Republican politics who had desisted on the governorship, was sentenced to 12-15 years in prison for stealing state money through a phony check scheme.

State officials previously estimated Hodge took about 1½ million dollars.

The accounting firm, hired to restore order in the financial affairs of the auditor's office, said Hodge embezzled $943,771 by issuing fraudulent state checks which were never received by the payees.

The report also listed $700,734 in state checks which it said were received by or bore evidence of receipt by payees "of doubtful or questionable propriety."

In addition, the firm found $327,505 in checks for payment of travel vouchers which were "improper or questionable."

This makes a total of $1,972,010. Earlier, it was disclosed that Hodge took $546,685 from a fund of unclaimed bank deposits under his control, for a total misappropriation of $2,518,695.

Hodge returned about $528,000 to the bank deposit fund in an effort to cover his crime when the scandal first came to light.

The audit report was presented as a supporting document along with the report and recommendations of State Auditor Lloyd Morey and Albert E. Jenner, special assistant attorney general named to investigate the scandal, and John S. Rendleman, Jenner's assistant. Jenner said, however, "in the very near future" the attorney general should be able to announce almost complete recovery of the misused or misappropriated funds.

"The people of Illinois should lose very little," he said, when a (Continued on Page Eight)

Morey Believes Office Will Face Deficit

SPRINGFIELD (U) — State Auditor Lloyd Morey Tuesday reported it "begins to look probable" that a deficiency appropriation will be required for the state auditor's office.

Morey is the caretaker auditor appointed by Gov. William G. Stratton to fill the unexpired term of ex-auditor Orville E. Hodge, who was sent to prison for embezzlement and forgery.

Morey said the Dec. 1 balance of the auditor's office appropriations was $1,666,309, enough to cover an average monthly expenditure of $206,292 for the remainder of the biennium.

As of Dec. 1, Morey said, bills and commitments were due totaling $222,251. He said the cost of operating the office in November was $195,769, plus the auditor's salary, and $220,652 in October. The November, 1955 figure was $340,994.

Morey said "fraudulent expenditures" from the auditor's office funds by Hodge now stands at $882,722.

He said the "overall condition of appropriations" is favorable, "but the amounts available in certain appropriations are insufficient to meet necessary expenditures."

United Church Women Urged to Collect Clothing for Hungarian Refugees

Members of the United Church Women have been asked to collect clothing and bedding for Hungarian refugees.

The following fard has been received by the president of the Harrisburg Church Women:

"An additional million pounds of clothing and bedding are urgently needed for relief for Hungarian refugees. Your center (in St. Louis) has already sent two carloads of clothing for Hungarian refugees. We expect to send additional car loads in the immediate future if we receive adequate amounts of clothing."

"Please send clothing, bedding and money for relief of Hungarian refugees to Church World Center, 4165 Duncan Ave., St. Louis 10, Mo."

Not only clothing is needed, but money also for transportation. The treasury of the local group is depleted and the cost of shipping to St. Louis is five cents per pound and overseas cost is eight cents.

Those who wish to donate are asked to leave clothing at the home of Bess Pemberton, 218 West Lincoln, Harrisburg, and mail checks to the same address or make donations in person.

The contribution from Harrisburg for World Community Day was 106 pounds of clothing and $20.20. The Marion council sent 500 pounds and over $100.

The board of United Church Women will meet Tuesday, Dec. 11, at the Pemberton home to elect new officers and to consider this urgent call for relief. The women have sympathies with the Hungarian refugees and feel this is their chance to do something for their loss.

Extending a Helping Hand

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
Most Americans would surely agree that the arrival of Hungarian refugees in our midst is a wonderful and touching event.

There is inescapable drama in any flight to freedom, especially when it follows closely upon the horrors the refugees have suffered under a repressive tyranny.

We can be proud that we are extending so hospitable a welcome to these embattled folk who are giving up their homeland forever. It is heartening, too, that Rep. Francis Walter of Pennsylvania, not known as a champion of liberal immigration policies, favors opening the way for 12,000 more Hungarians above and beyond the 5,000 already invited to America.

Walter has seen with his own eyes what these people have endured. As he watched them stream across the Hungarian-Austrian border, a shot rang out and a refugee hurrying toward freedom fell 100 yards from his goal.

Wisely we have trimmed red tape overseas to speed the refugees' passage here. Let's hope no untoward delays at their entry point—Camp Kilmer, N. J.—slow their transfer to waiting U. S. homes and jobs.

Authorities say that Americans, acting through church and welfare organizations, have opened their arms to more Hungarians than are presently expected. They have been wonderfully generous in promising what these people need and our government insists they must be assured if they are to stay: a roof over their heads and a livelihood.

In all the countless details of preparation for their arrival, some things stand out as affecting evidence of our willingness to help. For instance, a GI band practicing Hungarian gypsy music; boxloads of diapers for the baby refugees, giving Army officers new ideas about logistics; a library stocked with Hungarian books and newspapers.

American heartiness may in fact slightly overwhelm some of our new visitors. We like to make welcoming speeches.

But whatever their problems in adjusting to a new land, most newcomers will find them small compared to their recent troubles. Burned deep in their minds are scenes of death and destruction as the Soviet iron fist pounded their native land. And their newspapers here will tell them of spreading epidemics to add to the catalogue of misery left behind.

They will never forget the past. But we can be glad we are helping to give them a future.

A Worthy Record

Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, retiring ambassador to Italy, has not always had the easiest time of it. But accounts from Italy indicate she has earned the rest she now seeks from her unfortunate "I, Ness." For she is widely credited with having done an excellent job.

When she represented Connecticut in the U. S. House during the 1940's, she was an articulate but often controversial figure. Later she sought her state's Senate nomination but failed to make it. Then President Eisenhower named her ambassador to Rome and the Italians complained at the idea of a woman being named to a major diplomatic post.

But Mrs. Luce bent all her will and energy to learning her job, to understanding the Italian people and their problems. She rode out the steady barrage of Communist jokes against her. When her retirement was announced, leading Italian papers paid high tribute to her work. They see her as a true friend and helper.

An ambassador's impression on a foreign land is far from the sole measure of his usefulness. But it is a powerful sign of effectiveness in diplomacy. Mrs. Luce has gained her credits.

Congress to Delve Into Unfair News Restrictions

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — When Congress reconvenes there's going to be a full-dress probe of the latest Pentagon attempt to clamp a tighter lid on military information.

This attempt is a recommendation of an advisory group headed by former Assistant Secretary of Defense Charles Coolidge that reporters who mention a secret item be hauled up before a Grand Jury and forced to reveal their source or be tossed in the clink.

The congressional committee headed by Rep. John E. Moss (D-Cal.) which has been investigating excess censorship of news in all of the agencies is going to examine the Coolidge proposal with particular enthusiasm.

Some of the persons responsible for Pentagon security have already been called before the Moss group in preliminary hearings. And the committee staff believes it is on the trail of some real stupidity and bungling plus flagrant efforts to withhold legitimate information from the press.

EVER SINCE the end of World War II a large group of military brass hats has been trying to clamp tighter controls on press coverage of the services. It has been their conviction that the only information the public has a right to know is what they — the brass hats — are willing to spoon-feed to reporters.

Fortunately, most of the secretaries of defense have resisted this pressure from the military in the interest of keeping the public informed. And that includes Charles Wilson who has registered his disapproval of the Coolidge recommendation.

At the same time a hard corps of civil service press agents in the Pentagon, with a more mature understanding of the meaning of freedom of the press in a democracy than many generals and admirals, has kept open legitimate channels of information. This includes a handful of officers in the three services who happen to know what honest public relations amount to.

In addition, a number of hard-working, professional military reporters have not permitted themselves to be muzzled by the brass and have given the public a good picture of what has been going on in the services. This includes the blunders, which have been many.

IN THE PAST DECADE there has been no instance of a leak of information through the press which has been damaging to the country's security. Bits of information with security tags on them have been made public with a resultant investigation by the FBI or the investigation agencies of the service. There's never been enough evidence of violations of the security laws found to warrant any actions in these cases.

On the other hand each Pentagon reporter at some time or other has not written what could have been a hot story because he knew it to be a legitimate secret. For instance practically every military writer knew for more than a year about the discovery of the "pop bottle" aircraft design which permitted great additional speed with no additional power. Only when security restrictions were lifted did the story get written.

It has been the completely absurd security regulations which the press had not been willing to accept. For example the Air Force was outraged when it was reported that a B-36 was flying around the southwest carrying an experimental atomic reactor.

At the same time every deputy sheriff, local policeman and state policeman in the whole area had been given full details of the test to let them know what to do in case the plane crashed.

THIS IS JUST a sample of the kind of illogical security the Pentagon has tried to enforce. Another case concerns the new B-58 bomber which the press wanted to photograph recently. For weeks it stood outside on a Los Angeles airport for ever-passing-including Russian agents — to see. Yet officials said pictures of it could not be made.

Some of the worst offenses against security have been committed by the brass themselves, in speeches. The Air Force discovered that the best way to get a general's speech in the headlines was to have him discuss some previously classified weapon or research project. All of the services have been guilty of using this device to get publicity.

It's used mostly around the time when Congress is considering appropriations, too. This, especially, will be one of the aspects of military security to be probed by the Moss committee.

Give Something for the Home

Christmas is a time for sharing. We give gifts to each other and the welcome mat is dusted off to greet the more-than-usual number of guests. This year, dress up your home for Christmas by giving gifts for the home.

The idea of giving things which are attractive—and useful—in the home will solve many of your gift problems. Make a check-list of the members of your family (be sure to include yourself!) and you will think of any number of things which they can use.

In this age of casual entertaining and television viewing, Mom would probably like to have a set of small snack tables. They are wonderfully handy for serving and take up very little space when not in use.

SNACK TABLES are available in almost any type of styling. Some are made to stack or fold when not being used. Others nest under a larger table. Some can double as end tables or occasional tables between snags.

Serving carts fall into this same category. They are mobile so that refreshments may be placed on them in the kitchen and can be easily rolled into the room where they are to be served. In between times, they can be placed against a wall.

Many of the carts are made to match certain dining room or living room groupings. A number have mar-proof tops to protect them from spills, scratches, and hot dishes. An added feature is the extra storage space which they provide.

An interesting occasional table can give a new look to a room. If chosen wisely, it can be the focal point of a setting. Stainless steel, leather, mosaic tile, vinyl tile, and marble are just some of the materials being used in table tops these days.

MOM WILL undoubtedly like the table which rises from cocktail table to dining height at the touch of a finger. When the drop leaves are extended, there is ample dining space for six people.

A desk will be appreciated by practically any member of the family. School-agers will love having their own place for doing homework. Mom and Dad will enjoy it for going over household accounts and for letter-writing sessions.

You might want to give Mom a gift of some of the extra storage space she is always looking for. A handsome chest can fit into any room of the house. Some contain fall-front desks, too.

To bring out a latent feminine instinct in a teen-aged girl, try a gift of a vanity and stool for her bedroom. Or present her with a cedar chest. She will have it filled in no time and, with the addition of a flat cushion, the chest can act as an extra seating unit for a teen-age gab-fest.

For the male teen-ager, a handsome bachelor chest will help him to take pride in his room. Sure to make a hit is the chest modeled after the campaign chests which English officers used at the turn of the century.

A COAT HANGER chair is another good gift for the teen-age or adult male in the house. It is an ideal solution to the problem of the man who tosses off his jacket the moment he comes home. The back of the chair is shaped like a coat hanger so that a jacket can be hung trimly upon it. A small bar across the top provides hanging room for ties. It is estimated that the coat hanger chair will save its cost in pressing bills over a year's time!

Give a gift of relaxation this year. A comfortable chair will bring smiles of pleasure for many years. Dad might like one of the reclining types. Don't make this a surprise but take him to the store and let him choose a reclining chair which fits him well.

Reclining chairs come in a variety of styles these days. They are made to blend with any decor. Masculine-looking leathers are popular although the chairs are available in any type of upholstery—nubby tweeds, smooth fabrics, stripes, prints, or solids.

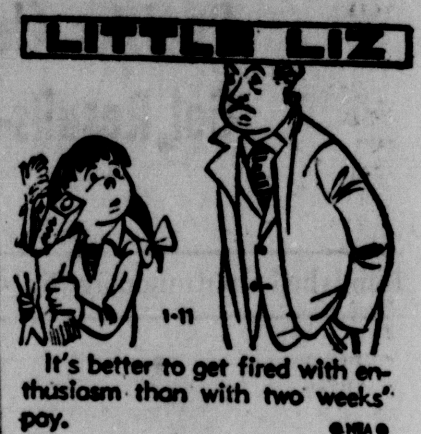

Something that the family will enjoy together is a game table. Whether the game be chess, checkers, scrabble or bridge, it will be more fun to play on a table built especially for game purposes, rather than trying to reach across a long dining table. Many game tables are of the folding variety that can be stored away when not in use and will not create a space problem.

ANOTHER GIFT that will delight the entire family is a chord organ. Easy to play, it will be a gathering place for singing Christmas carols during the holiday season and for musical evenings throughout the year.

The electric organs of today are not the massive pieces of years ago. They have been scaled down to fit into even a small home or apartment. They are styled so that they will blend well with any period of furnishings.

Carpeting or an area rug is another very special gift. The warmth and luxury which carpeting gives to a room cannot be duplicated by any other floor covering. Attractive area rugs act as accent touches in a room. They are available in modern or traditional design.

Look around your home and you will think of many other things which will be Christmas gift ideas.

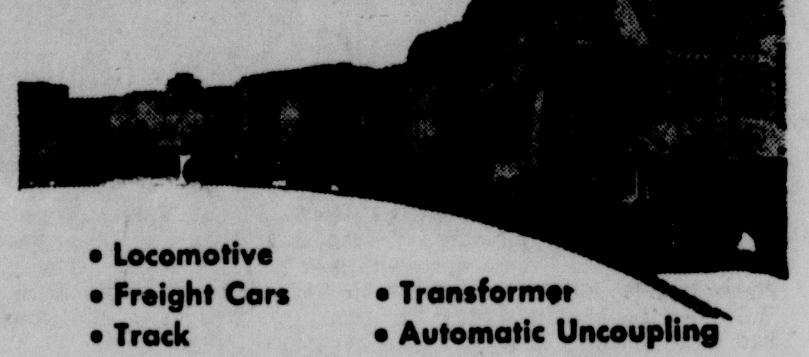

Perhaps a room divider, occasional chair, or bookshelves are needed to give a room a finishing touch. Giving gifts for the home will give lasting enjoyment to you and your family. They bring with them beauty and comfort as well as being useful. This year, make "Give Something For The Home" your holiday buying theme.

The bitters puff up its loose feathers when danger threatens in order to look more formidable.

Gaily-Decorated Outside of Home Says Warm Welcome Awaits Within

It's Christmas — the happiest season of them all — so let your home sing out this message to all who pass by.

Decorating the outside of the house can provide real family fun and will say to the world that here is a family filled with Christmas spirit.

Even the simplest decorating theme can convey your holiday greeting. Particularly effective is a doorway decoration for this says "Merry Christmas and Welcome" to all who enter.

There are limitless possibilities in holiday-mood doorway decor. Adapt the theme to the style of your entrance-way.

For the Traditional type home, a formal swag of evergreen boughs hung over the doorway is very effective.

This swag can be sparkled with colored Christmas lights or ornaments. Finish this decoration by centering a large Christmas wreath of glistening holly on the door.

Decorating the door of a Contemporary home call for a more modern treatment.

Outlining the door with greens and lights follows the modern lines nicely. To do this tack a 12-inch strip of chicken wire around the door. Tuck evergreen boughs into the wire until it is completely covered and then place lights in the greens.

Owners of Early American homes can call upon all the decorating themes of a truly old-fashioned Christmas for their holiday decor.

An oversize candy cane, a red felt stocking holding little gift-wrapped boxes, a traditional wreath, tall make-believe candles flanking the doorway, a huge card saying "Merry Christmas" will add a gala Christmas touch to the doorway.

For every home, a spray of evergreen boughs fastened together with wire and trimmed with ornaments or pine cones and a huge red bow is an easy-to-make doorway decoration.

Nothing creates a bright Christmas mood outdoors like strings of lights hung in evergreen trees, outlining the front porch or festooned around windows and doorway.

Windows, too, should come in for their share of cheery Christmas decoration for they will provide two-way enjoyment — from the inside and outside!

If Nature doesn't provide a white Christmas, try making your own! It's easy with the new liquid plastic snow that can be sprayed on window panes to simulate snow piled in the corners. Or use stencils of cut-out Santas, angels, reindeer or other Christmas motifs and spray with the aerosol can of snow.

If your windows boast shutters, try decorating them with colorful Christmas cut-outs of angels and stars.

So this year plan your outdoor decorations early and add to the cheeriness of the holiday season with a gaily decorated home that will lighten the happy Christmas mood of all who cross your threshold.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
Written for NEA Service

Where does peace come from? It does not come from the compromises of men seated around the conference table. It does not come from the victory of one opponent over another. Peace does not result from the stalemate of conflict.

It is said that no victor ever wins a war. The loser of the battle may win the peace. Peace comes from the attitudes of the mind and spirit. Peace comes from love and compassion; from the understanding and the friendship of people which surpasses the hate of self desire.

Out of the embers of destruction comes new life, new concepts, new goals, new friendships — peace. Peace comes not from the opponent, but from the self who has discovered the love of God.

Talent Program Held by HTHS FHA

The Future Homemakers of America held their regular meeting Nov. 27.

The program which was a talent show was planned by the Sophomore class. Performing were: The Harmonettes, composed of Linda and Donna Bennett and Christine Brown, who sang three popular songs; Shelby Fritch who gave a reading on "Romeo and Juliet"; Collette Wavering, Judy Cook and Pat Hodson, who sang "True Love" and Angella Psilou who sang in Greek. After the program the group enjoyed dancing.

The Chinese use the Gregorian calendar.

DRIED TREES DANGEROUS

Don't be sentimental about keeping your tree around when Christmas day is over. When a tree dries out it like a pitch-filled tinder box ready to ignite at the first spark. Sentiment, in this case, may prove costly.

Shelley Mann Gives U. S. 31st Gold Medal, But Soviets Threaten to Take Over Lead

MELBOURNE — Shelley Mann of Arlington, Va., America's most versatile swimmer, gave the United States its 31st gold medal of the Olympic Games today by winning the women's 100-meter butterfly event in a 1-2-3 finish by American girls.

A gold medal in star class yachting in the afternoon and 26 points in the women's swimming events gave the United States barely enough points to stave off the fast-moving Russians. The Soviets threatened to take over the team lead by scoring heavily in women's gymnastics and shooting.

With a few minor placings still not declared official, the United States led Russia in the overall team standings, 538½-522.

Earlier tonight, husky George Breen of Buffalo, N. Y., set a world record of 17:52.9 in a qualifying heat for Saturday's 1,500-meter free style and that set the tempo for the rest of the night.

Miss Mann, holder of 13 American championships, churned to a new Olympic butterfly record of 1:11.2 better than the mark she set in earlier trials.

First by Two Yards She hit the finish two yards ahead of Nancy Ramey of Mercer Island, Wash., and Mary Jane Sears of Chevy Chase, Md., finished third for a sweep of all three medals.

Judy Grinham of Great Britain won the women's 100-meter backstroke but Carin Cone of Ridgewood N. J., won the silver medal and five team points for second place. Maureen Murphy of Portland, Ore., finished fifth and contributed two points.

Miss Grinham set a new Olympic record of 1:12.9 and Miss Cone, a 16-year-old high school girl, was caught in the same clogging so will share the new mark. The old record of 1:13 was set in earlier trial heats by Margaret Edwards of Great Britain, who finished third to Miss Cone.

In addition, Dick Conner of Pasadena, Calif., third after three dives in the morning, vaulted into first place in the tower dive with a brilliant performance in the three evening dives.

Becomes Favorite

Conner thus became the favorite to win the high dive in Thursday night's final because coming up are the free or optional dives at which Americans are especially adept.

Conner piled up a total of 80.24 points with his strong diving in the night session. Joaquin Capilla of Mexico was second with 78.68 points and two other Americans were close enough to challenge.

Big Gary Tobiar of Los Angeles was in fourth place and Bill Farrell of Evanston, Ill., was sixth.

Breen, a burly blond, cracked the old 1,500-meter freestyle record of 17:59.5 set earlier this year by 17-year-old Murray Rose of Australia and thereby became the second in history to swim the "metri mile" under 18 minutes. Rose set the "old" Olympic record this afternoon in 18:04.1.

UN General Assembly Demands Hungary Consent to Observers

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (U.P.)—The General Assembly demanded early today that Russia and Hungary consent by Friday to let United Nations observers onto Hungarian soil.

The assembly overwhelmingly adopted a 14-nation resolution containing the ultimatum as Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld waited for a reply from Budapest on his request to go to Hungary Dec. 16.

Hungarian Foreign Minister Imre Horvath relayed the request to his government after a 20-minute conference with Hammarskjöld Tuesday night. He had hoped to get an immediate reply but when the General Assembly broke up at 1 a. m. EST today he still did not have it.

Advance Arrangements
Hammarskjöld also asked Horvath for permission to send Philippe De Seynes, U. N. deputy under-secretary for economic and social affairs, to Budapest this Sunday to make advance arrangements for the secretary-general's visit.

Council Vote on Highway Ends in Tie

The Federal Highway bill and the local proposition.
Archie Chapman said that Route 45 had by-passed Eldorado and that much of the town's business had moved to the highway. He said the same could happen here if the route by-passed the city.

William Dorris said a nationwide survey said the average for a tourist going through a town was $2.57, that parking should not be a problem that couldn't be overcome, as there is plenty of vacant space for parking.

Bill Davis said he wanted the road to come through Harrisburg. W. J. Cooley said if the road by-passes the town, the town will move out to the road.

Wants More Study
Dick Parker said he frankly did not know which proposition would be the best, that he felt the matter should be studied more.

Bob Mugge said he thought it was "natural" for it to go through the town.

Lewis Fulkerson said he believed that the public was promised that a highway representative would explain the facts before any action was taken.

Charles Shingler said he had written Kresge's traffic department about the local problem and was informed that the road would make little difference unless it affected parking, and Shingler remarked that "it would affect 160 parking places in town."

Dr. H. J. Raley said "it's well and good to provide a highway but if the traffic can't stop, how can each tourist leave $2.57?"

In response to a question asked him, R. R. Brown, engineer, said the street, if constructed partially with federal funds, would have to be built according to federal specifications, and that traffic was such to require four lanes for moving traffic.

Mayor Wants Decision Made
Some asked that the idea of improving Poplar street with state and local funds, with parking places left, be looked into.

Mayor Gibbons, in asking for a vote, said that the decision should be made this year or that the construction program would be delayed.

"We've got to give an answer by the first of the year," he stated. "I'm sold on the idea of the program. I don't think it will injure anybody. We should dispose of the matter today or lose our place in the waiting line for construction."

Commissioner Williams said he was told last week by a highway engineer that it would make no difference whether the matter was submitted now or after the first of the year, that the 1957 program already was completed. He asked that the matter be held up.

"Right now," said Commissioner Jordan, "I cannot vote honestly either way."
"I still think that the matter should be taken up today," said Mayor Gibbons, who made the Poplar street motion which ended in the tie vote.

The meeting ended immediately after the vote was taken.

The General Assembly resumes general debate today. Speakers listed were from Uruguay, Canada, Denmark, Israel, the Ukraine, Hungary, Britain, Guatemala and Syria.

The vote on the resolution, which the United States co-sponsored, was 54 to 10 with 14 abstentions. The nine-nation Soviet bloc and Yugoslavia opposed it, India and 12 other Afro-Asian nations abstained and Finland joined them. South Africa was absent.

Horvath Sets Stage
Horvath himself set the stage for Hammarskjöld's new bid to get to Budapest. During the course of the debate on the resolution late Tuesday he announced he was ready to discuss the matter with Hammarskjöld immediately.

As Horvath sat down Hammarskjöld, who was at the podium, accepted the invitation and said he would meet Horvath after the session adjourned.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. persuaded the assembly to adjourn immediately so the conference could be held.

Anglo-French Begin Mass Withdrawals

LONDON (U.P.)—The Anglo-French invasion forces began a mass withdrawal today from Egypt. The Moslem world turned to Iraq in an effort to force the downfall of pro-Western Premier Nouri El-Said.

Informal sources in Port Said said all of the 11,000 Anglo-French troops will leave Suez within two weeks. The big foreign colony in Port Said was showing signs of panic as anti-Western feelings increased.

British authorities said 2,500 of their troops would be removed during the day. The French were expected to be carrying out their withdrawal in similar fashion.

British Show Distaste
British military authorities showed their distaste for the withdrawal by nicknaming it "Operation Haridan." Webster's defines haridan as a worn out tramp.

Egyptian troops were reported moving into the Sinai Desert between Israeli troops and Yugoslav armored forces of the United Nations Emergency Force. There was no explanation of the Egyptian troop movement.

Sheikh Abdel Rahman Tag, rector of the 1,000-year-old El Azhar University in Cairo, the principal theological institute in the Moslem world, called for action against Iraq.

Mother Routed by Blaze, Children Obey Instructions

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Six children, overcome by smoke while obeying their mother's instructions to lie still on the floor, were rescued by firemen today from a flaming south side apartment building.

More than 100 persons, including the children's mother, were routed by the blaze. The mother groped her way to safety and alerted rescuers to the plight of her children.

The children and one woman were hospitalized for treatment of smoke inhalation.

The fire started on the first floor and quickly spread to the upper floors through the stairways.

Mrs. Artis Hodge, 31, a divorcee, sought to flee with the children, but was blocked by thick smoke in the corridor. She placed the children on the floor and warned them not to move.

The youngsters, Michael, 10 months, Robert, 7, Daniel, 6, and twins Donna and Donald, 3, were located by firemen and taken to Provident Hospital. Also hospitalized was Mrs. Mary Carr, 29.

final accounting is completed.

The report presented by the investigators blistered Hodge, and said he began his amazing raid on the state treasury shortly after he assumed office in 1953, and did not stop until he was faced with an investigation.

The report set such terms as "astounding betrayal of public trust . . . brazen deceptions . . . almost unbelievable . . . and sordid history" to describe Hodge's misdeeds.

The ex-auditor, forced out of office last summer, is serving his sentence in Menard State Prison.

Begin Arrests of Segregationists After Violence in Tennessee

CLINTON, Tenn. (U.P.)—A mass federal roundup of segregationist trouble makers was expected to begin here today.

Clinton High School was closed Tuesday after segregationists beat a young white minister who escorted Negro students to the newly integrated school. Violence erupted again Tuesday night with a dynamite blast in a Negro neighborhood at nearby Oliver Springs.

In Washington, U. S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. warned that the government would prosecute "all persons" trying forcefully to prevent Negroes from attending Clinton High, the first state-supported school in Tennessee to attempt integration.

FBI Agents Move In

It was the strongest federal move yet to back up the U. S. Supreme Court's 1954 and 1955 school desegregation rulings. School authorities here received the action with obvious relief.

It was reported FBI agents had targeted as many as 18 persons for arrest by this afternoon in connection with organized molestation of the Negro students and attempts to intimidate their parents.

U. S. District Judge Robert L. Taylor at nearby Knoxville, was expected to act today on a request from federal Dist. Atty. John C. Crawford to order arrests. He took the request "under advisement" Tuesday night.

Tavern Dynamited
Police said three to five sticks of dynamite were tossed from a speeding car Tuesday night into the front yard of a white beer tavern operator, Owen Long, 32, at Oliver Springs. The blast tore a five-foot-wide hole and shattered two windows in the tavern. No one was reported hurt.

Oliver Springs was the scene of sympathy rioting in September during an outbreak of violence which brought National Guardsmen equipped with carbines and tanks to the Clinton High School.

Officials unlimbered a three-month-old injunction issued as a result of those riots, which permanently prohibits interference with court-ordered integration. Integration resulted in the enrollment of less than a dozen Negroes among 700 white children at the school.

Russians Block U. S. Convoy

BERLIN (U.P.)—Russian guards blocked the passage of a U. S. military convoy from Berlin to the West today for the first time since the Soviet blockade of the encircled city ended in 1949.

The U. S. Army announced that the Russians halted its weekly truck convoy to the West at the Dreilinden checkpoint, just outside Berlin, and demanded the right to search the trucks for "concealed persons."

The convoy commander refused to allow the Russians to search the trucks, and the convoy returned to Berlin "rather than submit to investigations beyond those in effect for many years."

It was just such interference with Allied traffic which paved the way for the Berlin blockade seven years ago.

Brown Discusses Route 13 Problems

entrances and exits to a by-pass, and stated he felt the state plans for other routes would not be made until a decision has been made on Poplar street. He also added, that while the state could not guarantee any routes until approved by the federal government, any promises or pledges made would be carried out, and the state would follow the city's decision on a route.

Mr. Brown stated that he had not made a decision himself on the problem. He felt that a survey would show most of the traffic coming to Harrisburg is for shopping or business purposes and not entirely through traffic.

In a question period following his address it was brought out that enforcement of the present parking regulation of two-hour parking instead of feeding parking meters and leaving a car parked all day, would permit a greater share of parking to more people, and that it would be cheaper to buy parking lots than to build streets to allow parking.

It also was pointed out that the state is making a traffic survey at Carbondale at the present time and that an attempt should be made to get the state to make such a survey here.

To Entertain Orphans

President Ronnie Doerge announced the club at a ladies' night meeting on Tuesday, Dec. 18, would be host to the 54 children of the Carmi Baptist orphanage. Each member of the club and his lady guest will purchase a gift of $2 to present to these children. Cards with the children's names were passed out to the club members who will not hold their annual gift exchange this year, but will purchase gifts for the orphanage children.

Lowden Pankey of Pankey's Bakery will bake a special cake for that meeting and cake and ice cream will be served following the dinner.

Next Tuesday a film, "The Big Lie," will be shown and on Dec. 24 the Kiwanis club will meet with the Rotary club at a noon meeting of the Rotary club.

David Burnam and Fred Denny, members of the Kiwanis-sponsored Key Club at the HTHS, were guests of the club at last night's meeting.

Gov't Files Anti-Trust Complaint Against RCA, NBC

WASHINGTON — The government today charged Radio Corporation of America and its subsidiary, the National Broadcasting Co., with conspiring to obtain five of the nation's best television markets.

The anti-trust complaint was filed in Federal Court in Philadelphia. It said the firms "unlawfully combined and conspired" to obtain five of the eight biggest markets by "the unlawful use of NBC's power, as a network, to grant or to withhold NBC network affiliation."

The complaint specifically cited a station swap between NBC and the Westinghouse Broadcasting Co. through which NBC obtained two stations in Philadelphia in exchange for three in Cleveland.

The suit alleged that if Westinghouse balked at the transfer "it would lose its NBC affiliation in Boston and Philadelphia, it would not be granted NBC affiliation in Pittsburgh, and would not be able to obtain NBC affiliation for any future stations it might acquire."

Day of the Outlaw

They made the painful journey to the store and entered. Vic Frazin met them, troubled and curious. Bob watched from a counter. Ernie watched with wide eyes, deep and troubled, horrified at Dan's appearance. He smiled crookedly.

"I guess I wouldn't win any prizes right now," Dan said. "Vic, get some liniment."

Art Frazin came toward Dan, awe in his face. He stared as though he had found a new hero and Dan flushed. He noticed that the boy had started to shape a gun from a piece of wood.

"Golly, Dan! That was a fight!" Art breathed. Dan winced as he eased down onto a box near the stove.

"Nothing to be proud of."

Vic came hurrying with the liniment and Dan eased himself to a more comfortable position, looked at Phil, then at Vic.

"I can get a gun," he said.

Color left Vic's face. Bob stirred behind the counter and settled back with a sigh. Phil Preston wheeled about, his face alight with a new hope.

"Where?"

"They all leaned toward him, Phil eagerly, Vic and Bob holding their breath waiting for frightening news. Ernie stood quite still by the stove and Dan noticed the troubled shadows that touched her eyes. Art stopped whistling.

"Where, Dan?" Phil insisted.

"At . . . Vivian's."

"Vivian's!" Vic exclaimed. Phil's head lifted and his jaw tightened.

"She offered it to me. I left it at her house until I could see you and we could work out some plan."

Phil shrugged and a note of friendliness had left his voice. "Get it . . . use it."

"Not that easy," Dan shook his head. "It's just one gun and there's eight of them." He looked toward the front door. "If I can depend on all of you, there's one way we could end this mighty quick. We'd be free of the outlaws by nightfall."

"Name it," Phil snapped. Dan looked at Bob and Vic.

"I'll go get the gun, Phil, you, Vic and Bob wander over to the Wyoming. I'll get there as quick as I can. I'll have the gun hidden. Each of you get close to one of those renegades. I'll be watching you."

"But, but . . ." Vic started and his voice faded out.

"When I see you're ready, I'll throw a gun on the whole bunch. It wouldn't work ordinarily, but each of you grab the gun of the man you're watching. That'll give us four guns and we'll have no trouble rounding up the bunch. It ought to be easy after that to take care of the two or three who might be around town."

Vic and Bob did not move. Phil walked to the stove, placed his back to it. His mouth was twisted thoughtfully. He nodded again, decisively.

"It'll work."

Vic's head jerked up. "Only with more luck than anyone can expect. Too much chance of going wrong. Let's play it safe."

Art's awed whisper sounded loud in the room. "Golliee!"

Phil stirred. "Vic, you're going on the promise of that big outlaw, Bruhn. When was a killer's word or a robber's promise worth the breath it takes to make it? They could steal you blind. They could fire the store, kill you and your family, even destroy the whole town."

"They won't," Vic said.

"Here's another argument, Vic, your daughter. You're risking her every moment you let those men stay in town. Maybe your stock isn't worth the risk, but is Ernie's?"

Vic paced from the stove to the counter and back again. Art held his partially carved gun forgotten in his hand, his eyes following his father back and forth. Dan made a futile attempt to clean the mud off his clothing. Finally Vic swung around, arms wide.

"All right, I don't like it. But maybe there's nothing else."

Phil broke in. "I'll take Dan home where he can clean up and get in decent clothes. I think you and me are of a size, Dan." Phil said nothing from the moment they left the store. Both men were silent as they turned down the side street that would take them to the lane where the Prestons lived. Dan cleared his throat and Phil spoke without turning his head.

"You want to explain about Vivian, I reckon, Dan. Better save it until we get home."

"But Paula—"

"She has a right to know, too . . . and direct, not through me."

They heard Paula in the kitchen but Phil led the way directly upstairs to his room. He hauled underclothes, shirt and trousers out for Dan, rummaged in his drawer for a pair of thick socks as Dan wearily placed the liniment bottle on the dresser. Phil picked up the big pitcher from the ornate bowl on the marble-top table.

"I'll get hot water right away." He was gone but a short time.

"Come to the kitchen when you're dressed. We'll have some coffee. You'll need it before you start."

"Does Paula want to see me?" Phil smiled frostily. "I persuaded her." He walked to the door, and the coldness had left his face.

"Dan, maybe I'm judging too harsh and too previous. You always seemed to be a man to ride the river with. I just told Paula that. You've got your chance."

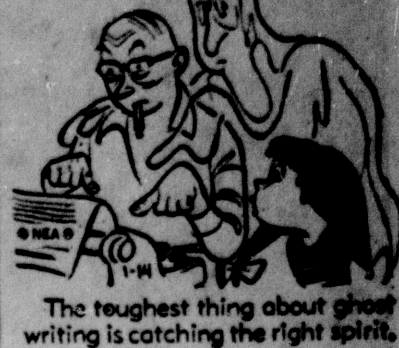

Dan soberly met his searching look. "Thanks. I reckon no one could ask for more. I'll be down."

NBC Observes 30th Birthday; Oldest Network

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP)—This is a belated birthday greeting to the National Broadcasting Co., the oldest of our networks.
This year, NBC is celebrating its 30th anniversary, an occasion it will mark with much who-de-do in Miami Beach next week when it trundles three shows and a fistful of executives and TV columnists to the sumptuous new Americana Hotel. (All new Florida hotels are sumptuous).
It was back on Nov. 15, 1926, that Gen. David Sarnoff unwrapped for the general public a 4 1/2-hour radio extravaganza that would do credit today to an Ed Sullivan, if NBC will pardon the expression.

Claims Many Firsts
That first network radio show, fed to 25 stations, featured Will Rogers, Mary Garden, Dr. Walter Damosch and the New York Symphony, Weber and Fields, and the bands of Ben Bernie, B. A. Rolfe and Vincent Lopez.
It was beamed on a hookup that stretched from Portland, Maine, as far west as Kansas City. Today, of course, NBC stretches in more directions than an old girdle — it boasts 118 radio and 207 TV affiliates.

Over the years, NBC has racked up a number of firsts. In 1929, it introduced the adenoidal tone clusters of Rudy Vallee to radio along with a couple of fellows named "Amos 'n Andy."
Fred Allen dropped into NBC in 1930. A couple of years later, NBC coaxed Ed Wynn, Jack Benny, Jack Pearl and Groucho Marx into its parlor as regulars or guests. Began TV in 1939.
Then, of course, there was Bob Hope (he made his bow as a radio guest in 1933), "Fibber McGee and Molly" (1933) and Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy (1937).

NBC gave birth to its TV baby back in April, 1939, at the New York World's Fair. NBC can lay claim to televising the first football game, the first baseball game, the first boxing match, the first tennis championship, the first national political convention (1940), the first religious services, the first election returns and Picky Lee.
It also has brought us Dinah Shore, Steve Allen, Sid Caesar, Kraft Theatre, Dragnet, Milton Berle, Jimmy Durante and, on at least one occasion, Elvis Presley.
So, happy 30th birthday, NBC. And may you have 30,000 more.

Charges Dapper Hypnotist Steals Wife's Affections

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Stanley Werra, 44, charges that a dapper amateur hypnotist stole his wife's affections by conjuring up the spirit of '76.
Werra, in a $20,000 alienation of affection suit, accused Jacob I. Apfel, 59, of convincing Mrs. Werra that she and Apfel were married in a previous life during the Revolutionary War, it was disclosed Tuesday.

Werra said Apfel, a former friend and fellow machine shop worker, put Mrs. Werra into a trance and talked her into believing this is her third life on earth.
Mrs. Werra is convinced that during her first life she and Apfel were married in 1776, and "belongs to him more than she does to her present husband," according to Samuel Schinsky, Werra's attorney.

Marion Police Chief Suffers Injury to Eye

MARION, Ill. (AP)—Police Chief Charles Edwards of Marion is wearing a bandage over his right eye today. His explanation is that his eyeball was burned by a snowflake.
It had happened while Chief Edwards was investigating a minor auto accident. The fender of a parked car owned by a salesman for "bombs" of artificial snow sold for Christmas decorations was dented.

The salesman was demonstrating one of the bombs to an insurance man who was inspecting the damaged car. The insurance man touched the trigger of the snow bomb as Edwards turned to speak to him. The "snow" struck the officer in the eye.
Edwards' eyeball was blistered, but it was not believed his sight will be impaired.

Letters, Awards Presented at Annual HTHS Football Banquet

Seventeen players, including 13 underclassmen, received varsity football awards last night at the annual football banquet held at Bonnell gymnasium.

The letter squad, which received its awards from Coaches Lawrence Calufetti and Ben Chamness, was composed of 11 juniors, two sophomores and four seniors.

Senior winners were Capt. Jim Cummins, quarterback; Lou Williams, guard; Ronnie Vick, tackle; and John Zeigler, fullback.

Juniors were Mickey Stone, halfback; Bob Clark, quarterback; Gary Aldridge, guard; Bill Endsley, guard; Don Biggs, halfback; Eddie Price, fullback; Bud Logan, end; Bill Yates, end; Jack Simpson, tackle; Allen Buchanan, center; and Ray Hassett, tackle.

The sophomores were Ron Maynard, tackle; and Don Pickford, who played at both guard and tackle.

Shrine Awards
In addition, Lee Skaggs, president of the Egyptian Shrine club, and L. J. "Duke" Holland presented miniature footballs to Aldridge, Don and Darrell Biggs, Buchanan, Clark, Cummins, Endsley, Hassett, Price, Simpson, Jim Stallings, Stone, Vick, Williams, Henry Winters, Yates, Zeigler, Logan, Wendell Fisher, David Dalton, Lowell Furlong, Maynard and Pickford.

Receiving freshman numerals were Larry Baldwin, Larry Conrad, John Ellis, Steven Frantz, Alfred Johnson, Larry Ledford, Gregory Neeley, James Roberts, Kenneth Smith.

Cheerleader Awards
Also receiving awards were the managers, Larry Hibbs of the varsity, John Hunter of the Bull Pups, and Ed Winters of the freshmen.

Mrs. Jean Parkhurst, faculty supervisor of the yell leaders, gave small gold megaphone gifts to the varsity cheerleaders—Jane Capel, Jane Davis, Carolyn Dewey, Judy Franks, Karen Skaggs and Joy Taylor—who already had received their letters, and gave letters as

Calufetti, Chamness, Dotson and Killebrew and Principal Eltis F. Henson made talks in which they praised the spirit of the boys despite the drubbings they took and predicted that things would be on the upgrade next year.

Calufetti said he knew the team was in for a rough year before the season started, but had predicted to himself that the boys would win three ball games instead of only one. He praised especially the improvement of three juniors during the season—ends Bud Logan and Bill Yates and tackle Jack Simpson.

James Beers, assistant principal, was master of ceremonies, and present besides players were parents and a few special guests who had assisted the sports department during the football season.

All four of the coaches and Mrs. Parkhurst received gifts from the team and cheerleader units.

The meal was prepared in the school cafeteria and was served by girls under Mrs. Marshall Cottrill, head of the Homemaking department.

Celtics Edge Hawks, 108-107

By United Press
The Boston Celtics stretched their victory streak to 10 and their Eastern Division lead in the National Basketball Association to 5½ games today on 26-point performances by Bob Cousy and Tommy Heinsohn.

Boston rallied to edge the St. Louis Hawks, 108-107, and the New York Knickerbockers also came from behind to defeat the Minneapolis Lakers in the second game of a Madison Square Garden double-header, 101-88.

In Tuesday night's other contest, the Syracuse Nationals snapped their string of seven road losses by scoring a 97-96 overtime triumph over the Fort Wayne Pistons at Albany, N. Y. Ed Conlin's two free throws with nine seconds remaining in the extra period gave Syracuse the victory.

SIU Cagers Open Home Season Against Strong Fort Leonard Wood Five Thursday

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Bracing itself against a tightly-packed basketball schedule which calls for five games in 10 days, Southern Illinois University's cage squad opens its home season against a strong Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., team here Thursday night.

Ft. Leonard Wood's roster reads like an All-American college selection with some professional basketball players thrown in for good measure.

Just to mention a few, the Hill-toppers from the Missouri outpost has the Judson brothers—Phil and Paul—of Hebron (Ill.), who played for the University of Illinois; Bill Ridley, former all-American from the University of Illinois; Jerry Bird, 6-6, a former player for the University of Kentucky and the Minneapolis Lakers; Joe Bertrand, who plans to return to the Harlem Globetrotters upon discharge; Vic Jackson, a teammate of Bill Russell at the University of San Francisco, Calif.; Tony Stracka, formerly with the University of Wisconsin; Ted Slavlin, University of California; and Ray Ripplemeyer, former SIU and Southeast Missouri player.

Following their fray with the Army, Southern's cagers travel to Bloomington, Ind., Saturday, for a game against Indiana University and then return home for three contests the following week: Midwestern (Texas) University, Dec. 10; Eastern Michigan, Dec. 14; and Central Michigan, Dec. 15.

The Salukis opened their season at Valparaiso University Saturday (Dec. 1) night, losing a hard-fought game, 77-66. SIU outscored Valparaiso in baskets, but the winners hit an amazing 35 of 42 free throws to win the tilt.

SIU Coach Lynn Holder stressed this week that defensive play must improve. He plans to start an all-lettermen squad against both Ft. Leonard Wood and Indiana University, but indicated that his bench may see plenty of action.

Named to start this week were Seymour Bryson, Quincy, and Warren Talley, Pinckneyville, forwards; Larry Whitlock Mt. Vernon, center; and captain Gordon Lambert, Marion, and Robert Welch, Centralia, guards.

High man for Southern in the Valparaiso game was Whitlock with 14 points followed by Lambert with 13. A former Collinsville (Ill.) high school player, Ed Eckart, was high for the winners with 13.

Game time Thursday is 8:15 with a preliminary set for 6.

Rosiclare, Ridgway Gain Victories To Tune Up for Conference Clash

Ridgway and Rosiclare tuned up for their coming clash that will determine the Greater Egyptian conference leadership by taking decisions Tuesday evening.

Ridgway's unbeaten Eagles won a non-loop game from Enfield 81-70 and Rosiclare took a thriller from GEC opponent Equality.

Ridgway was at home and Rosiclare on the road.

Friday night Rosiclare will be host to Ridgway and the GEC leadership will be at stake.

For the season Rosiclare has won five and lost one, losing to the strong Carrier Mills Wildcats and winning from Brookport, Shawneetown, Cave-in-Rock, Vienna and Equality. Three were GEC contests.

Ridgway has rolled past Grayville, Shawneetown, Pope County, Thompsonville, Crossville and Enfield. Two of the six games were in the conference.

Ridgway once again was sparked by the all round fine play of 6-8 Roger Suttner, who led all scorers with 33 points. All five starters broke into the scoring column and Capt. Pat Lawler was runner up with 16 markers.

The winners jumped into a 20-11 lead at the end of the first quarter and were never headed. Ridgway also won the preliminary game, 51-35.

Equality had a bad second quarter in losing to Rosiclare. After taking a 12-8 first quarter lead, Equality dropped back in the second period, being outscored 16-9, and Rosiclare held a halftime advantage of 24-21. After a 15-15 standoff in the third frame, Rosiclare raced to a 19-12 final frame to seal the verdict.

Norman Conger of Rosiclare was the game's top scorer with 20 points. Harlin Barnett topped Equality's efforts with 16 markers.

Dodgers, Phils Near Deal; Cards Want Bob Rush

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — The Brooklyn Dodgers and Philadelphia Phillies were close to completing a multi-player deal today in which outfielders Richie Ashburn and Carl Furillo would be the central figures.

A Brooklyn spokesman admitted that "something is definitely cooking" and although he did not identify the club the Dodgers were dealing with, it was known that Vice President E. J. (Buzzy) Bavasi had talked at length with Phillies' General Manager Roy Hamey.

From all indications, the deal would include at least five players. Along with Furillo, the Phils probably would receive rookie shortstop Bob Lillis, who played with St. Paul of the American Association last season, plus a pitcher.

Dodgers Want Pitchers
If the deal can be worked out, the Dodgers undoubtedly would want, in addition to Ashburn, one of two rookie pitchers—left-hander Seth Morehead or right-hander Dick Farrell. Both were with Miami of the International League last season.

The pennant-minded Braves are making an all-out pitch at the same time for Johnny Temple and Smokey Burgess but the Redlegs, with flag notions of their own, want Bob Buhl and catcher Del Crandell in return.

"The Red Sox were reported to be 'all set to swing a deal' which would bring them third baseman Eddie Yost from the Senators. The Indians and White Sox are also interested in Yost but Boston has the inside track and it may give up infielders Milt Bolling and Ted Lepcio for him.

According to one authoritative source, Washington is close to another deal with the White Sox that calls for Chicago to get catcher Clint Courtney for two secondary players.

The Cardinals are renewing their efforts to land Bob Rush from the Cubs but St. Louis now is facing competition from Cincinnati. The Cubs would lead Rush to the Cards for either Wally Moon or Ken Boyer but Redbird General Manager Frank Lane insists he won't dabble either.

Pittsburgh officials were huddling with the Giants concerning a possible deal reported by the United Press during the World Series. The Pirates were interested in southpaw pitcher Joe Margoneri and infielder Foster Castelman and the Giants would let Pittsburgh have them for outfielder-third baseman Frank Thomas.

Hornung Wins Heisman Trophy

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — Paul Hornung couldn't believe he had won the Heisman Trophy, symbolic of the nation's top college football player, because "I thought they were kidding me."

"I didn't actually think I had a chance for it in the first place," he said. "Like sometimes when you're playing a game, after it's over you know whether you played well or not."

"But it meant the happiest day of my life to win it. I don't think I ever received an honor which equalled this for myself or my family."

Hornung, a 20-year-old blond information quarterback from Louisville, Ky., won the trophy with 1,066 points against 994 for Johnny Majors of Tennessee and 973 for Tommy McDonald of Oklahoma. His victory was by the narrowest margin ever in the history of the 22-year-old trophy.

HTHS Students Among Top 10 in Sectional FFA Corn Yield Contest

Charles Moyer and Charles Buchanan, students at the Harrisburg Township high school, placed second and third respectively in the "Pioneer Hi-Yield Corn Growing Contest" in Illinois Section 25, FFA. Moyer obtained his high yield of 135 bushels per acre with Pioneer 302 and Buchanan made his high yield of 129.8 bushels with Pioneer 312A.

First place was won by Wendell Rankin, Enfield, with 146 bushels per acre.

The weighed yield tests were made under the supervision of E. I. Thompson, vocational agriculture teacher at the high school. At the time the corn weights were taken shelled corn samples were also taken for the moisture test and the yield was figured on the basis of No. 2 corn with 15 percent moisture content. Charles Moyer received $15 cash award for obtaining the second highest yield in section 25 and Charles Buchanan received $5 cash for placing third.

There were 280 high schools and 3045 vocational agriculture students in Illinois entered in this corn growing contest this year and free seed corn was furnished to the students for their corn projects by the Pioneer Hi-Bred Corn Company of Illinois. In this FFA section 25 there were 210 students competing from 14 schools. Section 25 includes Williamson, Saline, Gallatin, Hardin, Pope, Johnson, Massac counties.

First place in Illinois was won by Lowell Steiger, vocational agricultural student at the Delavan high school in Tazewell county, with 238.4 bushels per acre. In addition to winning the $25 cash award for the highest yield in Section 12, he also received a gold wrist watch as State FFA Corn Yield champion for 1956.

The top 10 students in section 25 with yield, hybrid and school are as follows:

You'll Score a Hit If You Give Luxurious, Lacy Lingerie Items

Nothing is so definitely feminine and nothing is so sure to be appreciated . . . as a gift of lovely lingerie!

From little misses, to glamour girls, to grandmother . . . they all admire and love to receive fine lingerie.

Silk, usually thought of as the height of luxury, returns to lingerie fashions in wonderful soft crepe and chiffon slips and gowns.

Dacron and cotton sheers are dressed up with touches of ribbon and lace. But the long-time favorite in lingerie is nylon.

Since the new fashion trend is to the straight and narrow, slips and sheath petticoats are styled to insure the smooth look. Lingerie colors are more varied than ever before and you can choose from pastels to deep metallic shades.

For party-times, she'll love a crisp bouffant petticoat in nylon taffeta, tulle or net.

A distinctive and dramatic gift for holiday entertaining and long after, is a hostess gown. Choose from many beautiful styles in rich taffeta, velvet, satin or nylon.

Young girls of all ages will like a plaid flannel duster and matching pajamas or a colorful Tyrolean print cotton quilted jacket and slim trousers.

Waltz length and full length gowns in silk, satin and nylon . . . lavishly trimmed with lace, pleats and embroidered trim are wonderful gifts.

Popular and new are the knee-length sleepcoats, tailored or brightly embroidered full styles.

Cotton knit pajamas take on a Scandinavian look in brightly colored ski-styles. Flannel pajamas in dainty Provincial prints are dressed up with eyelet and ribbon trims. Enchanting nylon pajamas are styled with lace and smocked bodices in pretty pastels and tone-on-tone combinations.

A truly appreciated gift for weekend and traveling is a robe, pajamas and slippers in a compact travel case. You can choose from rayon, silk, cotton and nylon tricot in a wide variety of patterns.

"This year, give every woman on your gift list a personal, delightful lingerie gift and you'll be sure to please!"

Students Divided on Honeymoon Bill of the first financial problems facing many engaged couples is: Should the bride pay for the honeymoon if the bridegroom doesn't have the money?

Students in a marriage course at Michigan State University were evenly divided on the question, Margery R. Ross, assistant professor in MSU's School of Social Work, reported.

"The bride has to pay for nearly everything else in the wedding," one co-ed said. "And it isn't fair that she should have to pay for the honeymoon too."

Some thought it would be proper for the bride to pay if she had been employed while the bridegroom was going to school.

"After all," said those in favor of the bride's paying, "once they're married, what's hers is his and what's his is hers. Besides, after marriage, the husband usually pays the bills for the rest of their lives."

Teach Teen-Agers To Spend Properly

DAVIS, Calif. (AP)—Too few teen-agers are learning to handle money wisely, says Dr. Marilyn M. Dunsing, University of California home economist.

She said the teen-ager has a right to a share of the family income and sociologists recommend regular allowances.

Dr. Dunsing found in a recent survey of some 700 California 4-H club members that less than one-third of them received an allowance.

She found that about two-thirds of the junior and high school students surveyed received money from irregular earnings. Most of it came from tasks around the home.

She said a few teen-agers reported ed getting a dole, a specific amount irregularly given to be spent for a certain thing.

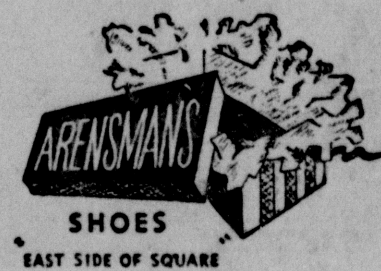

Dr. Dunsing recommended a combination of the three systems—an allowance for personal needs, eventually covering all the child's needs; supplemented earnings; a dole, used at first for needs not covered by the allowance, but later given only for emergencies.

She said a teen-age member of a family has the responsibility of sharing routine household tasks with the rest of the family and should not be paid for doing them.

anything before!

Other cars have changed models . . . this one changes motoring. Look at its rich, racy lines . . . at the long, low silhouette . . . at the dramatic upsweep of the rear fenders that plume back from the waist like the wake of a hydroplane. It's a streak of a car with the elegance of the boulevard and the spirit of the speedway.

Get into this car, drive it into traffic or out on the open highway and you enter a new domain of travel. In the 1957 Chrysler, with its new Torsion-Aire Ride, motion has a new "feel". And wait till you toe the throttle.
